Following our meeting on 19 August 2026 with Arvind Tiwari and Priyanka, IGI is pleased to present the Diamond & Color Stone Retail Technical & Sales Training Program for Indriya's store sales associates across all 90 stores. Technical knowledge has to be strong, so it carries 60% of the program (including hands-on practical work); sales is a skill that builds over time on the floor, so it carries the remaining 40% here. Delivered In-Person (2 full days, recommended), Virtual (4 half-days — 2 technical + 2 sales), or Hybrid (2 half-days virtual + 1 full day in-person for the sales component) — matched to each store's needs, with pre/post assessment and a live manager dashboard throughout.

ABOUT IGI

International Gemological Institute (IGI), established in 1975, is a global leader in independent diamond, color stone, and jewelry grading and certification, operating across 20+ countries with over 30 years of presence in India. Through the IGI School of Gemology, IGI trains over 10,000 students annually across full-time diplomas, the UK Gem-A certification pathway, short programs, and on-site retail training — making IGI both a certifying authority and a training partner trusted across India's diamond and jewelry trade.

PROPOSAL OVERVIEW

This proposal responds directly to Indriya's briefing on 19 August 2026: a single technical and sales training program for store associates across all 90 stores, for 200 participants (2 associates per store). Technical knowledge has to be strong, so it anchors 60% of the program (including hands-on practical work); sales is a skill built over time on the floor, so it carries the remaining 40% here, focused on communicating what makes Indriya different and why its jewellery commands a different price. In line with Indriya's approach, the training does not reference third-party certification with customers — technical knowledge (4Cs and color stone quality drivers) is taught as a strong foundation, and value is communicated in Indriya's own words.

PRESENCE IN INDIA

A pan-India instructor network built to deliver a 90-store rollout like Indriya's.

ENGAGEMENT AT A GLANCE

STEP 01

Confirm & Schedule

Headcount, store list, format (In-Person/Virtual/Hybrid) and batch dates locked with Indriya's L&D team.

STEP 02

Deliver Batches

IGI instructors run 60%/40% technical-sales batches, across all 90 stores, in the confirmed format.

STEP 03

Track & Recognize

Certificates of Completion issued internally; live delta tracked throughout.

Objective: build genuine technical confidence first — the 4Cs and colored stone quality drivers — then layer on the selling skill to communicate what makes Indriya different. Technical knowledge has to be strong, so it anchors 60% of the program; sales is a skill that develops over time, so it carries the remaining 40% here as a solid foundation to build on.

SPLIT	TECHNICAL FOCUS	SALES FOCUS
60% Technical + Practical 40% Sales	4Cs, diamond shapes & cuts, color stone quality drivers, treatments & disclosure — with hands-on practical handling	Communicating Indriya's value and differentiation; objection handling; closing

TECHNICAL + PRACTICAL (60%)

- The 4Cs of diamond grading — Carat, Clarity, Color, Cut — practical, floor-usable logic
- Diamond shapes, cuts & fluorescence — what drives visible beauty vs. paper specs
- Color stone essentials — ruby, emerald, sapphire: what drives value (color, clarity, cut, carat)
- Treatments & disclosure — heat treatment, oiling & resin, and how to explain them plainly
- Hands-on practical: sample handling under loupe, side-by-side comparison drills

SALES (40%)

- What makes Indriya different from other jewellery brands
- Why Indriya's jewellery commands a different price / cost
- Communicating the value proposition — design, craftsmanship and brand story, built on the technical foundation above
- Objection handling and closing — without discounting or leaning on a third-party report

II

Indriya's value proposition stands on technical substance, design and craftsmanship — not on a third-party report. This program builds the technical confidence first, then trains associates to sell that story with confidence.

LEARNING OUTCOMES — WHAT ASSOCIATES WALK AWAY WITH

Grade

TECHNICAL

Apply the 4Cs and color stone quality drivers confidently and correctly on the floor.

Explain

VALUE / PRICE

Articulate why Indriya's jewellery costs what it costs, without hesitation.

Handle

OBJECTIONS

Turn technical and price questions into value conversations, not reflexive discounting.

Close

CONVERSION

Close on technical confidence, design and brand story — not on a certificate.

OBJECTION HANDLING IN PRACTICE

CUSTOMER SAYS	HOW A TRAINED ASSOCIATE RESPONDS
"Why is this so expensive compared to [another jewellery brand]?"	Reframes around craftsmanship and Indriya's own quality standards, grounded in real technical knowledge — not a discount.
"How do I know this is good quality?"	Walks through the 4Cs (or color stone quality drivers) confidently, using hands-on technical training.
"Can you customize this?"	Leads with Indriya's customization capability as a differentiator, not an afterthought.
"Is this stone treated?"	Explains the treatment plainly and confidently, using the technical knowledge from this training.

Sales is a skill built through repeated, coached practice — not a lecture. The 40% sales component is delivered as eight practice-led modules, each building directly on the technical foundation from the previous page, so associates always sell from real product knowledge rather than a script.

#	MODULE	WHAT ASSOCIATES PRACTICE
1	Indriya's Value Proposition	Articulating design philosophy, craftsmanship standards, and brand positioning versus mass-market and other premium jewellery brands.
2	Technical-to-Sales Translation	Converting 4Cs and color stone quality drivers into plain, customer-facing language — no jargon, no over-explaining.
3	Price & Value Conversations	Justifying price through craftsmanship and quality substance; reframing cost as value instead of reaching for a discount.
4	Reading the Customer	Question-based discovery — occasion, budget signals, and buying stage — to tailor the pitch instead of running one script for everyone.
5	Objection Handling Frameworks	Structured responses to price, quality, and competitor comparisons — reframing to value, not discounting.
6	Cross-Sell & Upsell	Pairing diamond and color stone pieces, complementary items, and Indriya's customization option as a natural extension of the sale.
7	Closing Techniques	Assumptive close, choice close, and creating natural urgency — without pressure tactics.
8	Role-Play & Live Coaching	Full end-to-end sale role-played with a peer or instructor, with real-time correction on tone, framing, and closing.

CORE SALES SKILLS PRACTICED

Discover

CUSTOMER READ

Ask the right questions before pitching — occasion, budget, and what actually matters to this customer.

Frame

VALUE, NOT PRICE

Lead with craftsmanship and design story; let price follow value, not the other way round.

Handle

OBJECTIONS

Respond to price and quality pushback with substance — not a reflexive discount.

Close

CONVERSION

Bring the conversation to a natural close, with cross-sell where it genuinely fits.

ROLE-PLAY & PRACTICE, BY FORMAT

IN-PERSON & HYBRID (SALES LEG)

- Live, face-to-face role-play in pairs, rotating through customer and associate roles
- Instructor-run "hot seat" drills on the toughest objections, with real-time correction
- Full mock sale, start to finish, observed and scored by the instructor

VIRTUAL (SALES HALF-DAYS)

- Paired role-play over video in breakout sessions, with instructor rotating through rooms
- Objection-handling drills run as structured call-and-response with the group
- Shorter mock-sale segments, scaled to what holds attention well on screen

SAMPLE ROLE-PLAY SCENARIOS

SCENARIO	SKILL PRACTICED
A customer compares Indriya's price to an online or mass-market brand.	Value framing and objection handling — reframe on craftsmanship, not discount.
A customer is undecided between two pieces and hesitant to commit.	Discovery and closing — surface what actually matters to them, then close naturally.
A customer asks detailed questions about a stone's quality or treatment.	Technical-to-sales translation — plain-language answer, no jargon, no hesitation.
A customer buying for a wedding or gifting occasion, budget-conscious.	Reading the customer and cross-sell — tailor the pitch, suggest a genuine complementary piece.

PRE-TRAINING & POST-TRAINING ASSESSMENT

Every associate is tested before and after the program, so improvement is measured — not assumed — and the delta is visible live, not weeks later in a static report.

STAGE	TIMING	DETAIL
Pre-Training Test	15 min, at the start	15–20 MCQs covering baseline technical and product-value fluency; establishes a per-associate, per-batch baseline. Not scored for certification.
Post-Training Test	25 min, at the close	20–25 MCQs, ~60% pass threshold for eligibility.
Live Delta	Instant — on the dashboard	The pre-vs-post score comparison computes automatically the moment a post-test is scored, and appears live on the manager dashboard — per associate and rolled up per batch. No separate report, no waiting.

CERTIFICATE OF COMPLETION — INTERNAL RECOGNITION ONLY

Every associate who completes the program and clears the post-test pass threshold receives a Certificate of Completion, based on IGI's independent assessment. This is an internal recognition and tracking record for Indriya's L&D and store management. In line with Indriya's approach, it is never referenced with customers — it exists purely to track associate readiness and completion, not as a sales tool.

Program-Wide

CERTIFICATE SCOPE

One certificate per associate for the full program.

~60%

PASS THRESHOLD

Applied on the post-training test, for eligibility.

Internal

USE ONLY

For Indriya L&D and store management — never shown or referenced to customers.

Associates who do not clear the threshold may be offered a re-test window, to be mutually agreed with Indriya's L&D team.

ON THE CERTIFICATE

Each Certificate of Completion carries the associate's name, store/city, programme date and score, and an internal reference number that can be verified against IGI's assessment record on the live dashboard — giving Indriya's management a verifiable internal record of who is trained and ready. As agreed, this record is for Indriya's internal use only and is not a customer-facing document.

WHY THIS STAYS INTERNAL

- Indriya's value proposition is built on design, craftsmanship and Indriya's own brand story — not on a third-party credential shown at the counter.
- Keeping the certificate internal avoids any customer-facing reliance on a report or badge that isn't part of Indriya's own positioning.
- Store and regional managers still get a verifiable, auditable record of who is trained and ready — the certificate does its job for HR and operations.
- Associates are still recognized and motivated by completion — just never asked to reference it with a customer.

Every batch's pre-test, post-test, score delta and completion status feeds a live dashboard — built on IGI's existing Assessment & Reporting Platform — so Indriya's store and regional managers see training progress, and the delta, as it happens.

WHAT MANAGERS SEE

- Store-wise and region-wise roll-up of associates trained vs. total headcount (2 per store)
- Live delta chart — average pre-to-post score by format and by store, visible the moment a batch is scored
- Completion status by associate — issued or pending re-test — exportable for HR and store audit records (internal use)
- Access shared with designated Indriya L&D and regional managers; refreshes automatically after each batch's assessment is scored

Dashboard is delivered as a shared, web-accessible view (desktop and mobile) for the duration of the training engagement. Exact hosting and access details to be finalized with Indriya's IT/L&D team during onboarding.

WHY LIVE TRACKING MATTERS AT 90 STORES

1

SINGLE SOURCE OF TRUTH

One dashboard for all 90 stores, instead of city-by-city spreadsheets and status updates.

Instant

GAP VISIBILITY

Managers see which stores are behind schedule the moment it happens, not at month-end.

Internal

RECORD ONLY

Completion status is tracked for Indriya's own HR and audit use — never a customer-facing view.

IN-PERSON, VIRTUAL, OR HYBRID — MATCHED TO EACH STORE

IGI recommends In-Person as the default format — sales is a role-play, practiced skill, and quality is strongest face to face. Virtual and Hybrid remain available as lower-cost or lower-logistics alternatives per store or cluster, each with its own duration, batch size and fee — not one duration or fee across the board.

RECOMMENDED In-Person 2 full days, in-store or at a city hub. Technical and sales both delivered face to face, with live role-play and real-time coaching. Batch size: up to 30 Sales capability: full Rs. 2,500 / participant, +GST	BALANCED OPTION Hybrid 2 half-days Virtual for the technical/theory portion, then 1 full day In-Person for the sales and role-play portion. Batch size: up to 30 (capped by the in-person leg) Sales capability: full, delivered in person Rs. 2,250 / participant, +GST*	LOWEST COST Virtual 4 half-days, fully online — 2 half-days for technical, 2 half-days for sales. Role-play quality over video is weaker than in person. Batch size: up to 60 Sales capability: included, but weaker over video Rs. 2,000 / participant, +GST
--	---	---

*Hybrid fee shown is IGI's suggested blended rate between In-Person and Virtual — to be confirmed with Indriya.

FORMAT SNAPSHOT

FORMAT	DURATION	BATCH SIZE	SALES CAPABILITY	FEE
In-Person	2 full days	Up to 30	Full — live, in person	Rs. 2,500 / participant
Hybrid	2 half-days virtual + 1 full day in-person	Up to 30	Full — the in-person leg carries sales	Rs. 2,250 / participant*
Virtual	4 half-days (2 technical + 2 sales)	Up to 60	Included — weaker role-play quality over video	Rs. 2,000 / participant

Curriculum, assessment and the internal Certificate of Completion are identical across all three formats — the difference is delivery, cost, and how strong the sales practice is in each.

Same 60% Technical+Practical / 40% Sales split

Same live dashboard & internal certificate

Format confirmed per store or cluster

HOW FORMAT IS CONFIRMED

In-Person is proposed as the default for every store. Hybrid or Virtual are confirmed only where Indriya identifies a specific need — a remote store, a scheduling constraint, or a preference for lower cost.

STEP 1 IGI Reviews Store List Store locations and clustering are reviewed against instructor availability and travel logistics.	STEP 2 Format Proposed Per Store In-Person is proposed by default; Hybrid or Virtual flagged only where a store genuinely needs it.	STEP 3 Confirmed With Indriya Final format signed off store by store during rollout planning, ahead of batch scheduling.

IN-PERSON VS. VIRTUAL — SIDE BY SIDE

IN-PERSON

PROS

- + Live, face-to-face role-play with real-time coach correction — the only format where sales skill is fully deliverable.
- + Hands-on technical practice — sample handling under loupe, side-by-side comparison drills.
- + Instructor adapts pace and depth per associate on the spot.
- + Materially higher completion and pass rates — no connectivity drop-offs mid-session.
- + Historically drives the strongest pre-to-post score delta and fastest floor application.
- + No dependency on bandwidth or device quality — reliable even in tier-2/3 city stores.

CONS

- Associates off the floor for 2 full consecutive days; instructor travel and venue booking needed per city.
- Higher coordination cost across a 90-store, pan-India network.
- Highest fee of the three formats, and smaller batch cap (30) than Virtual.

VIRTUAL

PROS

- + Zero instructor travel cost or time — deployable to any store or cluster instantly.
- + Lowest fee of the three formats, and the largest batch cap (up to 60).
- + Effective for technical/theory content — 4Cs, quality drivers, treatments teach well on video.
- + All 4 half-days covered — 2 for technical, 2 for sales — so no component is dropped, only lighter.

CONS

- Sales role-play is weaker over video — tone, body language, and real objection handling come through less strongly on a screen than in person.
- Higher no-show and mid-session drop-off risk — associates get pulled back to store duties.
- Connectivity issues in tier-2/3 city stores can break sessions or degrade quality.
- Lower sustained attention over multiple half-day sessions — screen fatigue reduces retention.
- Historically shows a smaller pre-to-post score delta than in-person batches, especially on sales.

HYBRID — THE PRACTICAL MIDDLE PATH

PROS

- + Guarantees real, in-person sales practice — the one component that genuinely needs the room.
- + Technical/theory delivered virtually first, at lower cost, before the in-person day.
- + Only 1 full day off the floor for the in-person leg, vs. 2 for full In-Person.
- + Balances cost and quality — better sales outcomes than pure Virtual, lower cost than pure In-Person.

CONS

- Still needs some travel and venue coordination for the in-person day.
- Two separate touchpoints to schedule instead of one.
- Associates must attend both legs for the full benefit; missing either weakens the outcome.

In-Person recommended by default

Hybrid and Virtual available per store or cluster

Format confirmed during rollout planning

WHAT STAYS CONSTANT, REGARDLESS OF FORMAT

100%

SAME CURRICULUM

4Cs, color stone essentials, and value-led selling content are identical across all three formats.

1

SAME ASSESSMENT

One pre/post test structure and one internal Certificate of Completion, regardless of format.

Store-Level

FORMAT DECISION

In-Person is the default; Hybrid or Virtual confirmed only where a store genuinely needs it.

Fine jewelry is a high-value, low-frequency purchase that lives or dies on the confidence of the person across the counter. As Indriya scales its 90-store network, the ability to communicate value — not just recite product facts — becomes a direct P&L lever, not a soft HR initiative.

+11.1%

POST-TRAINING REVENUE INDEX INCREASE

Achieved for a leading jewelry retail brand in the first full cycle following a comparable IGI training rollout — same store footprint, same footfall; the lift came entirely from floor execution.

IN-PERSON VS. ONLINE — WHAT ACTUALLY MOVED SALES

II

In IGI's most recent comparable engagement, the week immediately following in-person delivery saw a clear, measurable increase in store sales. The same engagement's online-only sessions did not produce a comparable lift. This is the single biggest reason IGI recommends In-Person, or at minimum the in-person sales leg of Hybrid, wherever a batch can be filled.

WHY THIS MATTERS SPECIFICALLY FOR INDRIYA

- New-store readiness: every new Indriya store opens with a floor team that is technically confident and objection-ready from day one, rather than learning on live customers.
- Margin protection: associates who can justify Indriya's price on technical substance and craftsmanship reduce reflexive discounting to close a sale.
- Higher average order value via trained upselling and cross-sell between diamond and color stone counters.
- The training cost is miniscule against the sales it drives — a single trained associate's incremental sales in one strong week can outweigh their entire training cost many times over.

DELIVERY FORMAT — CONFIRMED PER STORE

As set out in Chapter 05, IGI proposes three formats, each with its own duration, batch size and fee — In-Person (2 full days, recommended), Hybrid (2 half-days virtual + 1 full day in-person), and Virtual (4 half-days — 2 technical + 2 sales). Curriculum, assessment, and the internal Certificate of Completion are identical across all three; final format is confirmed store by store during rollout planning.

In-Person — Rs. 2,500 / participant, recommended, up to 30/batch

Hybrid — Rs. 2,250 / participant, up to 30/batch

Virtual — Rs. 2,000 / participant, up to 60/batch

COMMERCIAL TERMS

- All fees quoted are exclusive of GST (18%), applicable extra.
- Fee: Rs. 2,500 per participant for In-Person; Rs. 2,250 per participant for Hybrid (blended rate, to be confirmed); Rs. 2,000 per participant for Virtual.
- Scope: 200 participants — 2 associates per store, across Indriya's ~90 stores pan-India.
- Instructor deployment: 2 IGI specialist instructors per In-Person or Hybrid batch (technical + sales); airfare, stay (accommodation) and local conveyance for both instructors to be arranged and borne by Indriya for each in-person leg.
- Venue, participant refreshments, and any printing / stationery to be arranged by Indriya for In-Person and Hybrid batches.
- Batch cap: up to 30 participants for In-Person and Hybrid; up to 60 for Virtual.
- Certificates of Completion issued per participant, based on IGI's independent assessment, for Indriya's internal recognition and tracking only — not used with customers.
- Live dashboard access, with real-time delta, provided to designated Indriya L&D and regional managers for the engagement duration.
- Dates to be mutually confirmed at least 2 weeks in advance of each batch, to allow for instructor travel (In-Person/Hybrid) or scheduling (Virtual).

NEXT STEPS

- Confirm final participant count per store and the In-Person / Hybrid / Virtual split by store or cluster.
- Confirm the Hybrid blended fee (Rs. 2,250, suggested) or provide an alternative.
- Finalize batch dates and dashboard access list for Indriya's L&D team.
- IGI to issue formal confirmation and the instructor deployment plan.
